WE WON!

BNP victory in East End stuns the Establishment

AN EARTHQUAKE shook Britain's political Establishment on Thursday the 16th of September, when the first ever British National Party candidate was elected to serve the Millwall ward of Tower Hamlets Borough Council. It was a close result, but BNP candidate Derek Beackon won, and is now the first serving councillor for the British National Party.

This election was the toughest battle yet faced by the BNP, but we came through it with flying colours. We won despite every conceivable obstacle and dirty trick being used against us, from illegal smear leaflets, media disinformation, intimidation from the authorities and a vicious physical assault against Derek Beackon himself. The Liberals repeated last year's shabby trick of playing the 'race card', by trying to pretend that they were against immigration. The trick failed, as local whites had heard it all before, and this time were not taken in.

It was about two months before the election when BNP canvassers first realised that the Party might have a chance of winning Millwall. Support from local whites was running very high at around fifty per cent, and even after discounting the ten to fifteen per cent immigrant vote, this put the BNP in the running for a chance of winning the seat. In the event, this is exactly what happened, with Derek Beackon gaining 1,480 votes. The BNP's total share of the vote was thirty-four per cent, but its share of the white vote was closer to fifty per cent, as Labour managed to mobilise the vast majority of the ten to fifteen per cent immigrant population of the borough to vote against us. The turnout for the election was unusually high, at forty-four per cent, compared with an average of thirty-three per cent.

The Millwall victory is an enormous psychological victory for the British National Party, and a massive blow against the enemies of Britain. For the first time, we have shattered the myth of Establishment invincibility. From now on, there can be no more excuses about the BNP being a 'wasted vote'.

Millwall is just the beginning. The British National Party will soon be enjoying even greater electoral successes.

Controlled press can no longer ignore BNP

"DEREK BEACKON has thrown a hand grenade into British politics" shrieked the Daily Mail. "Supporters of (the BNP) are pigs" snarled the Daily Telegraph.

There's no doubt about it — the Government's official press were not at all pleased by the British National Party's election victory. The hysteria generated on television news programmes was more than matched by the front page headlines screaming from every national newspaper in the land. The official Media hate our guts, but they can no longer pretend we don't exist.

It is almost certain that we can expect an avalanche of schlock-horror 'nazis under the bed' type stories from the press. But Millwall proves the public are increasingly getting wise to this sort of hogwash.

WE'RE ON THE MARCH!

Last month's BNP election victory in East London's Isle of Dogs was historic. Never before has any genuine nationalist been voted into office - not even in the 'glory days' of the 1970's.

Councillor Beackon's victory was a credit also to the people of Millwall ward who had the guts to vote for what they believed in.

Needless to say, Britain's Establishment wheeled out their big guns to condemn the people's choice. John Major, the most discredited Prime Minister Britain has ever had, was almost first in the queue.

The premier, who is all in favour of 'democracy' in Yeltsin's Russia, communist China and other far away places, couldn't denounce British voters in his own back yard fast enough - yet they had merely used the democratic process he's always praising to the skies, in order to make it plain that they wanted their own country to be run in their own interests, rather than in the interests of the Bangladeshi, West African and Vietnamese immigrants who have been given priority in housing, welfare and education services by the established powers.

No less than the Archbishop of Canterbury was the next mouthpiece of the Establishment to come flouncing to the stage. He described the express wish of the British folk of the Isle of Dogs to live among their own kind in a land of their own as the 'evil of racism'.

To most normal people not contaminated with his type of perverted attitudes, and those of vast numbers of other churchmen, such a wish on the part of a clear majority, especially when democratically expressed, is quite simply patriotism - nothing more, nothing less.

But for sheer venom, it was (as usual) our mass media who carried away the prize. They mounted what looked like a well-planned campaign of vicious personal abuse against Millwall's duly elected councillor, clearly designed to incite violence against him. Not surprisingly the Sunday after polling day this led to a disgraceful riot by a sour mob of underclass degenerates in the Brick Lane area, who couldn't accept that decent British people have had enough of them and their kind, and the type of squalid and debased world they are trying to create.

This hatred from the spokesmen of the old order may be taken as a badge of honour by the people of Millwall, the British National Party, and Councillor Derek Beacon — who throughout it all has behaved with quiet reasonableness and courtesy, determination and courage. Councillor Beackon has made plain his intention of meeting his obligations both as a local Councillor serving his people, and as a patriot.

The Establishment are rattled. Well they might be. Just as happened in Eastern Europe when communism was on the slide, they are going hysterical. They know the mood of the people is no longer one which will accept their despicable regime of lawlessness, worklessness and an alien take over, enforced by lies and petty tyranny. They are no longer minded to be treated as second class citizens in their own country.

The British people are on the march. In the words of Councillor Beackon, whatever happens now, this victory is the "first step in taking our country back."

ESTABLISHMENT IN MASS PANIC AS B.N.P. STORMS TO VICTORY

THE CRIMINAL trash who purport to run Britain were quaking with fear on the friday morning following the BNP's magnificent victory.

The usual has-beens who filled the airwaves with wailing and gnashing of teeth seemed to have lost some of their arrogant bluster. The Tories' smarmy little Home Secretary, Michael Howard, was stuttering with fear and sweating grease by the bucketload as he squirmed under the bright lights of the breakfast TV studio. His Labour oppo, Jack Straw, seemed on the verge of tears.

BUFFOON

Next to join the 'chorus of condemnation' was the preposterous Archbishop of Canterbury, George Carey. This buffoon has already alienated his own flock to the extent that the Church of England now has less members than either the Muslims or Catholics. A man who openly tolerates homosexual clergy performing perverted acts of sodomy (supposedly banned by the bible) now presumes to speak for the ordinary British people. If the people of Britain ever adopt his morality, God help us — not that many trendy C of E vicars believe in such an 'outdated' concept as God. Most of them are too busy spouting about 'anti-racism' and rights for queers and lesbians to worry themselves with theology.

NONENTITIES

Not to be outdone by these nonentities, we were next treated to the spectacle of the Liberals' excuse for a leader, Paddy Pantsdown, frantically assuring us that his party was not 'racist' — after local Liberals had spent the last two years playing the race card by pretending they were more 'racist' than the BNP!

Finally, even the Prime Minister himself felt moved to interrupt his love-in with Australia's anti-British traitor Paul Keating, in order to comment on his anger at the people of Millwall for daring to vote BNP.

HOME Secretary Michael Howard (Above) and his Labour opposite Jack Straw (Right) are both sons of immigrants whose origins lay far to the east of these shores. Their reaction to British 'racism is therefore understandable

RESISTANCE

What worries the Establishment most of all, is the thought that the Millwall victory is the beginning of a national resistance movement like that which we saw in Britain during the 1970s, and in Europe during the 1980s. This is why they have been at pains to tell the public that Millwall was a 'fluke' which cannot possibly happen again. All sorts of bizarre excuses have been made by the media, the most ridiculous being that the BNP 'intimidated' the borough's massive immigrant population from going to the polls. This is patent nonsense, as there was in fact a much higher turnout than usual, and almost a hundred per cent of the immigrants voted. Indeed, if Labour had not rounded up all these immigrant voters, they would have lost by a far higher margin. Although the BNP's score was 34 per cent overall, its percentage among white voters was more like fifty per cent, as confirmed by the BNP's own canvass returns just before the election.

DIRTY TRICKS

If anything, it was the white voters who faced massive intimidation and dirty tricks by the opposition. Police riot vans surrounded the polling booths, and an illegal 'anti-racist' demonstration was allowed on election night forcing the BNP voters to run the gauntlet of abuse and hostility.

When our opponents became aware that the BNP might have a chance of victory, they used hired thugs to launch a vicious racial attack against Derek Beackon in an attempt to make him stand down.

Illegal smear leaflets were delivered to voters across the estate, until finally a group of angry locals caught some of the criminals responsible and physically expelled them from the area.

AGITATORS

Finally, agitators from communist groups threatened to start race riots against the white community if Derek Beackon was elected. This last tactic was particularly stupid, as the whites reacted angrily against the threats.

Following the BNP victory, communist agitators within Tower Hamlets Borough Council staged a walk-out to protest against the white people of Millwall. Council workers in the Borough are twenty per cent non-white, and the union is heavily dominated by marxist agitators who are affiliated to various 'anti-racist' groups. The forces of 'democracy', are running true to form: Now the BNP is winning, it's time to change the rules!

AFTER coming a poor fourth in the Tower Hamlets by-election, John Major (Above) appears to be publicly praying to Allah in a desperate bid to appease his Asian voters, who gave over £1million to the Tories last year

HUNGER Chancellor Kenneth Clarke (Above) favours the more traditional mode of prayer, but even this doesn't seem to have the desired effect — the BNP won Millwall despite the efforts of the local barmy vicar whose all-night prayer vigil failed to get the Almighty to intercede for the Tories. Labour's John Smith (Below) thinks it over

The Prime Minister, his Home Secretary, media pundits, bishops, barmy vicars, rabbis, police chiefs and assorted nutters launch into an orgy of soul-searching and self-publicity following the BNP victory

PADDY PANTSDOWN (Right) is a squalid little adulterer who betrayed his own wife and family, so he is hardly in a position to question the 'morality' of decent British people for voting BNP. Besides which, his own party has been playing the 'race card' for the past two years, with his full knowledge and approval. Pantsdown has proved himself a hypocrite as well as a cheat.

HANG THESE EVIL PERVERTS

Tory Government's soft policy on crime allows paedophiles to re-offend

THE GOVERNMENT is to release a paedophile early from jail — despite warnings that he is certain to carry out more sex-attacks on children.

Pervert Bill Waite has served nearly two thirds of a ten-year sentence for gross indecency against children, and is automatically eligible for parole thanks to the Tories' 'softly-softly' policy on crime.

DANGER TO SOCIETY

Prison officials and psychologists say Waite, 33, is a danger to society and will attempt to sexually abuse or even murder a child if released. On average, no less than forty-two per cent of sex attackers re-offend on being released, and Waite has boasted: ''I fantasise about having sex with a child and then murdering it.''

Thanks to the Tory Government's weakness on crime, scores of rapists and murderers are released back into the community every year, putting women and children at risk.

Chief Detective Superintendent Roger Stoodley led the hunt for a paedophile ring responsible for the murders of several young boys including Barry Lewis, Mark Tildesley and Jason Swift in the mid-1980s. He commented: ''There is no consideration of a prisoner's potential danger to society when he or she is given remission. I have the same fears as everyone else and know these murderers will get out, disappear into the community and kill again.''

There have been several cases recently where just such a scenario has occurred. Terence McCready raped and killed eight-year-old Karin Griffin only four weeks after being released from jail. At his trial in 1991 it emerged that he had already been convicted of eleven attacks on youngsters over a period of thirteen years.

MURDERS

Paedophile Lennie Smith, 32, was questioned about the murders of five boys, and jailed in 1990 for attacking a boy of thirteen. After being released on bail last October, he sexually assaulted another boy of the same age.

Homosexual Andrew Witham, 31, was jailed following three offences against young boys. After his release, Witham sexually assaulted a thirteen-year-old boy. He had a fifteen-year history of such offences.

TORY QUEERS

It is in fact official Tory Government policy to 'normalise' certain sex perversions such as homosexuality. There is even a special group for queers in the Tory party called 'TORCH' — the Tory Campaign for Homosexual equality. This sick group pushes the idea that queers and lesbians are perfectly 'normal', and wants to lower the 'age of consent' for queers to sixteen. Prime Minister John Major is said to be 'sympathetic' to the demands of his queer lobby. The Government has also legalised the highly lucrative pornography industry, despite the proven link between porn and sex-crime.

Clearly, the Tories are not concerned about the physical safety or moral welfare of our children, when they openly tolerate homosexual perverts within their own ranks.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

The British National Party believes that homosexuality and pornography should be banned, and capital punishment should be available as the ultimate deterrent to perverts who sexually assault and murder children.

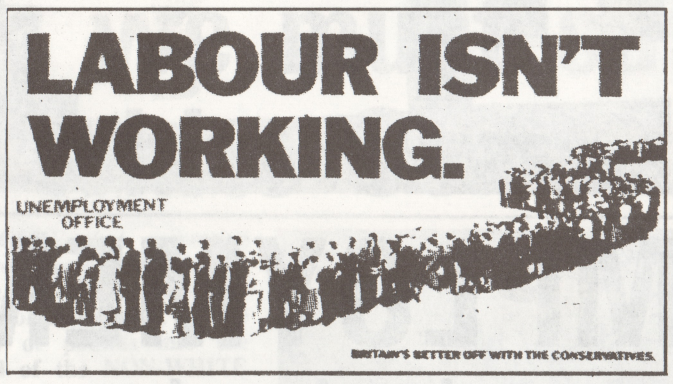

EVIL CHILD-MOLESTER Bill Waite is to be let out of jail early, to be given a 'second chance' under the Government's softly-softly policy for criminals. On average, forty-two per cent of sex attackers re-offend after being released. Many have gone on to commit murder, yet the Government refuses to impose capital punishment or surgical castration for perverts.

Unemployment growing thanks to Tory policies

Both main parties fail to create jobs

THE POSTER on the right was used by the Tories in their 1979 campaign to highlight Labours appalling record of unemployment.

It is ironic that the Tories' own record since taking office has been even worse. Since 1979, unemployment has never fallen below one million, and it has twice risen above three million.

The total fell very slightly in the summer thanks to more fiddling of the figures, but has now risen for the second successive month, giving the lie to Tory propaganda about 'recovery' of the economy.

Despite the hardship faced by British workers, the Tories have refused to drop so-called 'equal opportunities' legislation which makes it legal to discriminate against whites but not against blacks in job market. Neither will the Government ban foreign imports, which have put Britain's balance of payments £28billion in the red.

Unemployment costs Britain £26billion a year in social security handouts and lost earnings from manufacturing and service industries.

It is certain that Britain is now experiencing 'multiple dip' recession, whereby small improvements in the economy are followed by prolonged relapses back into slump.

SPECULATORS

Because the Tories are financed by foreign powers, their hands are tied when it comes to taking the necessary steps to boost our own economy. Their weakness enables foreign speculators such as George Soros to make millions by bidding against Britain on the stock market. Soros made a billion dollars by speculating against Sterling during Black Wednesday last year.

BRITISH WOMEN TOLD: "MARRY AN AFRICAN"

ENCOURAGED by Government race-mix propaganda, thousands of British women are flocking to Africa in the hope of a holiday 'romance'.

Glaswegian Rosemary Long has recently produced a book entitled Under the Baobab Tree, in which she describes her apparently idyllic new life in a mud hut in Gambia with Ray, an African man whom she met on holiday. Ray proposed marriage within hours of meeting her for the first time.

'BLISSFUL'

Ms Long enthuses: ''Goats and chickens wander in and out of the rooms, which have earth or concrete floors and little furniture...we lived on mangoes and tinned sardines and village bread, waded through knee-high mud while the rains emptied from the clouds.'' It sounds positively blissful!

RAPED

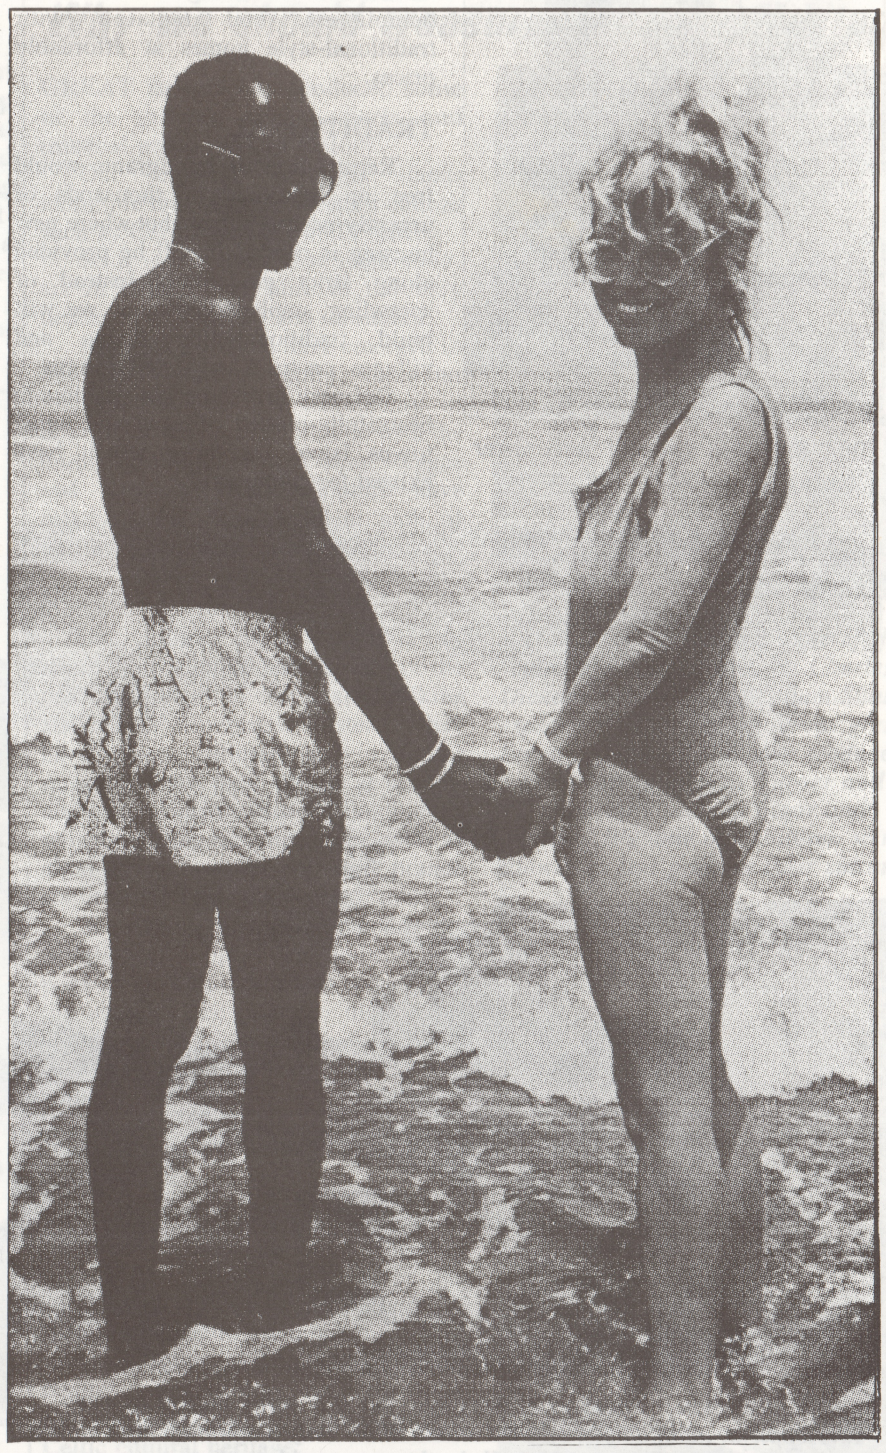

One visitor to Africa who had a rather less pleasant experience was Hampshire widow Sylvia Hibbs, 51. Mrs Hibbs was befriended by a smartly-dressed African 'charmer'

Sylvia Hibbs (left), was raped, beaten and robbed

while on holiday in Tunisia. The man, who claimed to be a doctor with his own private clinic, invited Mrs Hibbs to 'tea' in his apartment — whereupon she was beaten, robbed and twice raped. She now faces an agonising wait for the results of an AIDS test.

Since AIDS is rampant in Africa, the British Government should be banning our people from going there, to prevent the further spread of the disease into this country.

IF BRITAIN HAD A B

Until recently, the idea of the British National Party forming a government seemed laughable to most people. But Derek Beackon's spectacular by-election result in Millwall last month has made the enemies of Britain laugh on the other side of their faces. Of course, no-one would be foolish enough to equate a single by-election result with the fighting of a full-scale General Election. But the fact is, over the past couple of years the BNP has been showing a marked improvement in its electoral performance. Two or three years ago, a vote of over one per cent was considered a major victory; then came last year's twenty per cent breakthrough in Millwall, coupled with a clutch of solid votes in the General Election. Now, even the BNP's enemies are forced to admit that we are a force to be reckoned with. As the Party enters the 'big league' of politics, it is important that we tell the public what sort of government they can expect if they vote the BNP into power. Most people know where we stand on the subject of immigration, but the BNP is not just a one-issue party. We are the party of law and order — the ONLY party which would restore capital punishment. We are the ONLY party which guarantees full employment and an end to homelessness.

A BNP Government would encourage the building of towns and villages on traditional lines like Rye (Above) and Pittenweem (Below). British families in inner-city tower blocks would be guarranteed a place in such new housing

A green and pleasant land

How the BNP will improve Britain's environment

BRITAIN was once a beautiful land of villages, small market towns and handsome cities, surrounded by green countryside.

But now, thanks to the greed, stupidity and arrogance of the 'planners', much of that beauty has been blighted or destroyed.

INNER CITIES

During the 'liberal' 1960s and 1970s, vast areas of our cities were demolished and replaced with hideous, alien tower blocks and 'modernist' architecture totally out of scale and out of keeping with the British way of life.

THE BNP will demolish ugly tower blocks replace them with houses

Britain's inner cities, once attractive and lively communities, were turned into urban slums peopled with alien immigrants and rootless left-wing drop-outs as their former residents fled to the outer suburbs. Our once great cities are now in decay.

Almost as bad as the decay of the cities is the uncontrolled mushrooming of urban sprawl into the countryside, caused by 'white flight' from the ghettos as those who can afford it move away from immigrant areas into new housing estates on the edge of town.

TOP PRIORITY

Firstly, the inner cities would be totally cleaned up and revitalised, so that ordinary, decent British people would want to move back there. Ugly 'modernist' buildings would be demolished, and replaced with traditional-style homes at affordable prices.

TRADITIONAL

Repatriation of immigrants would free up hundreds of thousands of urgently-needed homes, but where new housing is needed it will be provided along strict guidelines. Instead of sprawling, unplanned estates, we will build traditional-style towns and villages, on tried and tested designs.

Ordinary British people will live in beautifully-crafted villages and small towns based on those which have existed for centuries.

If we are to protect the British countryside, a BNP victory cannot come a moment too soon. According to the Council for the Protection of Rural England, the country is vanishing under new houses and roads twice as fast as the Government admits. England alone has lost an area of land equivalent to Greater London, Berkshire, Hertfordshire and Oxfordshire combined, since 1945.

RURAL COMMUNITIES

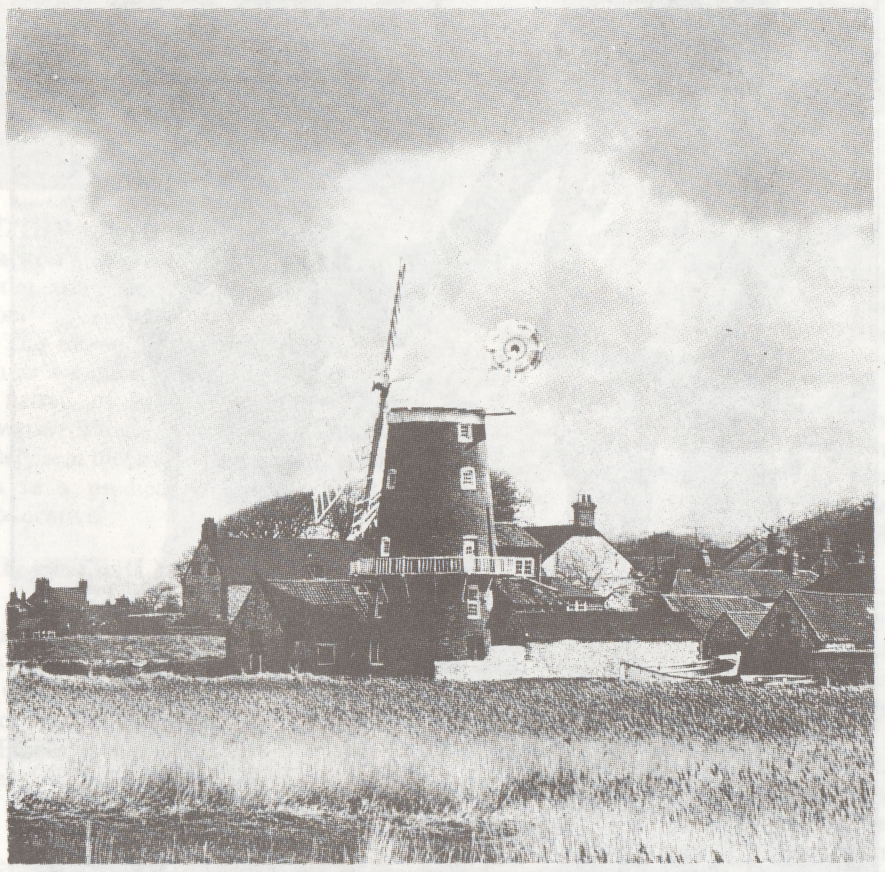

In the British National Party, we believe that there are great advantages in having traditional rural communities spread evenly over the country in towns and villages rather than crowding everyone into big cities. We will ensure that any new communities are built in the traditional style of the locality in which they are situated, so that they will blend in harmoniously with existing buildings.

RESPECT

The BNP believes it is essential that our children are taught to respect their environment. The disgusting litter and vandalism which flourishes under the present Government will quickly disappear as we restore discipline and respect to our children's education.

PROTECTED

Our ancient buildings and countryside will be protected and preserved under a BNP government. Great historic cities such as London, York and Edinburgh will be restored to their former glory by the removal of ugly office blocks and other modernist 'carbuncles'. Britain will be transformed from a run-down, post-industrial slum to a beautiful land of which we can be proud!

BRITAIN has a beautiful countryside, but it is being ruined by over-development. A BNP government would allow only traditional style towns and villages to be built in the countryside in future

FULL EMPLOYMENT

...And a permanent end to homelessness

SINCE the second world war, Britain has been cursed with the spectre of mass unemployment. Indeed, since the mid 1970s, unemployment has never fallen below one million, and for most of the time it has been above three million.

ALIEN SPECULATORS

Thanks to the Tories and their half-baked market economic theories, alien speculators have been able to make millions out of the Government's incompetence, throwing millions onto the dole in the process. Hundreds of thousands of families have lost their homes as a result of reckless borrowing encouraged by successive Tory chancellors.

A BNP government would reverse this trend by putting the economy back into the hands of native British people. Instead of shifty, alien spivs controlling our stock market, Britain's wealth would be controlled only by British people. Inferior imports from the Far East would be banned, and we would ensure that British industries received sufficient investment. Britain was once the 'workshop of the world', and there is no reason why we should not regain that position.

REPATRIATION

The repatriation of Britain's seven million immigrants will literally wipe out unemployment overnight, as well as freeing up hundreds of thousands of homes for British families. It is a national disgrace that hordes of aliens are able to get straight off a plane and be instantly housed by local authorities.

NEVER AGAIN

When the British National Party is in power, Britain need never have mass unemployment again, because British workers won't have to compete with foreign immigrants or imports.

It is a scandal that Britain is importing Polish coal and Korean steel while closing down our own coal and steel industries.

Instead of the low-wage, 'coolie' economy being imposed by the Establishment parties, we will re-introduce a proper quota of industrial apprenticeships and training to improve the skills of British Workers.

B.N.P. GOVERNMENT

BRITAIN under a British National Party Government would be very different from the decadent, unhappy and ugly country which successive Establishment governments have created. Instead of alien cultures, ugliness and pornography, we would restore decency, patriotism and pride in our own British and European heritage.

Instead of constantly putting the 'rights' of immigrants first, we would think about the genuine rights of our own people — especially the elderly, the sick and disabled. We are constantly hearing about the demands of immigrants, but what about the needs of our old folk? Many of them fought for their country, yet have now become second class citizens, afraid to go out of their own front doors.

Within a few years of our coming to power, Britain would have a powerful Army, Navy and Air force — not so that we can interfere in worthless 'United Nations' adventures such as Bosnia or Somalia, but so that genuine British interests can be protected when necessary.

Instead of all the ridiculous wrangling over the Europe, the BNP would immediately withdraw from the Common Market and restore trading, political and cultural links with the White Commonwealth.

The BNP would restore permanent full employment within six months of being elected. This would be achieved by halting immigration, and banning the flood of inferior imports from the Far East.

Homelessness would end immediately, as repatriation would end the housing shortage overnight. Last year, the Tories imported almost fifty-four thousand immigrants, according to their own figures. How can Britain possibly find houses and jobs for these people?

Britain with a BNP Government would be prosperous, proud, strong and secure. We would regain our pre-war position as a major world political and economic power. We would once again be the 'workshop of the world'.

Crack down on crime...

We'll bring back the rope for murderers and rapists!

BRITAIN is suffering from an almost total collapse of law and order, thanks to Tory weakness. Incidents of mindless, subhuman savagery, once very rare, are now reported daily in the national press. As shocking as the crimes themselves are the pathetically inadequate 'punishments' handed out to the perpetrators.

75-YEAR-OLD Eva Robinson was battered beyond recognition by a subhuman teenaged thug. If the BNP was in power, such louts would be birched until they screamed for mercy — and then given a tough prison sentence of hard labour.

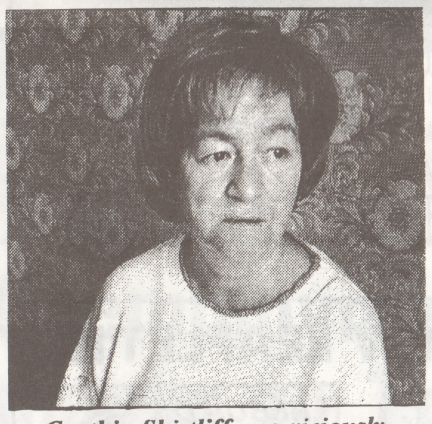

Britain has become a sick, vicious society thanks to the Tories. We say it's got to stop

ATTACKED

Last year Cynthia Shirtliff, 42, was attacked on her own doorstep in Ryhill, West Yorkshire. She was battered unconscious by sub-human thug David Helliwell. 45. In January he was jailed for just five years for indecent assault and grievous bodily harm. He will probably be out in three years with remission, and his victim is so afraid that he will come back for revenge that she has been forced to move house.

A few miles down the road in Wakefield, 75-year-old Eva Robinson is recovering from a savage attack a few weeks ago in which her nose was broken, her pelvis cracked and her face bruised beyond recognition. She was attacked for the sake of £3 in her purse. A boy of just 14 has been charged.

The BNP believes such juvenile thugs should be birched until they scream for mercy, and then given a tough sentence of hard labour. More importantly, we believe that the evil subhumans who rape and murder women and children should face the death penalty. The BNP is the only political party in Britain which supports the majority demand for restoration of capital punishment.

SOFT TREATMENT

The Establishment parties, whether Tory or Labour, are constantly telling us that we should 'understand' the criminal's point of view. They justify the soft treatment of offenders by saying that such treatment will make them less likely to re-offend. Yet all the evidence shows that this kind of bribery has the opposite effect. It simply makes the criminal more arrogant.

DISCIPLINE

Of course, we do not suggest that harsher punishments alone will stop crime. Young people in Britain need to be taught respect for authority and respect for themselves — beginning from their schooldays. Trendy, left-wing teachers should be sacked and a new emphasis put on discipline, smartness and punctuality.

KEEPING OUR ARMED FORCES STRONG

BRITAIN's armed forces are at their lowest strength since 1945, thanks to the Tories. Our Army has been decimated by the so-called 'options for change cuts, with centuries-old regiments being scrapped overnight and front-line troops being sacked while serving in war zones. Similar cuts have recently been announced for the Navy and the RAF, demonstrating the Tories' utter contempt for Britain's defence capability and the bravery of our fighting men.

The cuts are claimed to be the result of the so-called 'peace-dividend' following the collapse of the Soviet Union. But the Tory Top brass seem to have forgotten that there are still over a billion communist Chinese who are every bit as land-hungry as the Russians ever were. Worse, there are now dozens of tin-pot third world dictatorships ranging from Pakistan to Israel who posses atomic weapons and the ability to launch them against us. If anything, the world is ten times MORE dangerous since the demise of the USSR. This is why a future BNP government would STRENGTHEN, not weaken our armed forces.

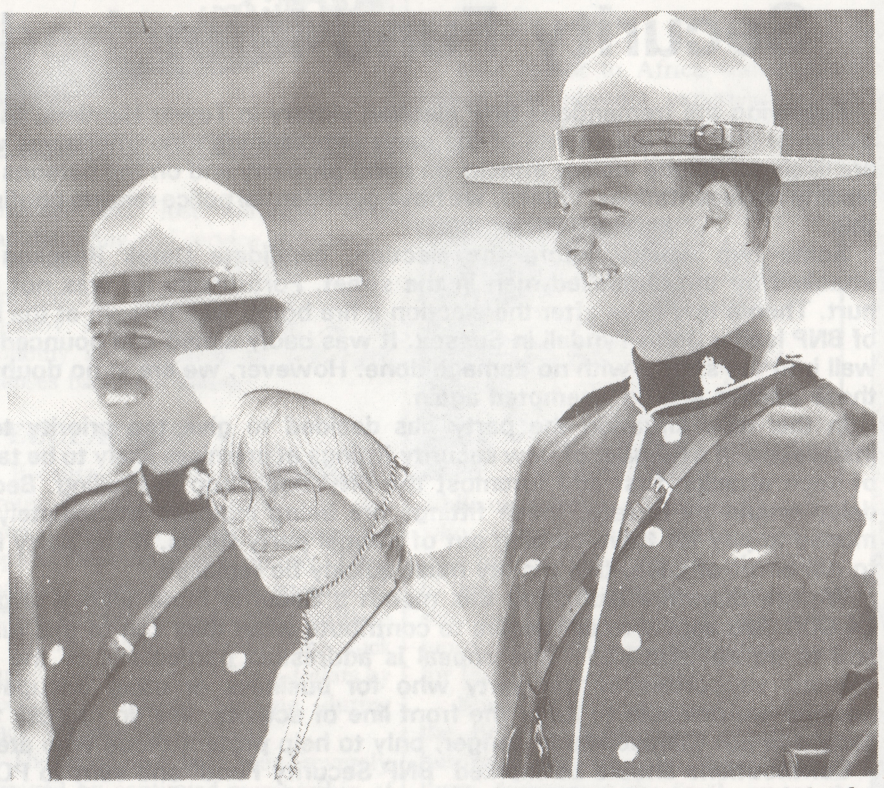

Why we must safeguard the white Commonwealth

IT IS A TRAGEDY that successive governments have abandoned Britain's political, trading and cultural links with the WHITE Commonwealth, while pouring billions of pounds into the useless dustbowl of the NON-WHITE states of the former British Empire.

Paul Keating's treachery in Australia is inexcusable — but in a sense understandable, given the shabby way in which we have treated our own kith and kin in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Rhodesia and white South Africa.

ABANDONED

We have allowed Rhodesia to fall into the hands of a communist rabble, and it now looks as if South Africa may go the same way. We abandoned centuries-old trading links with our cousins in Australia and New Zealand in order to be locked into the over-priced markets and wastefully subsidised agriculture of the alien 'European Community'. The BNP will reverse this trend, and strengthen the ties with our racial kinfolk across the sea. The vast natural wealth of lands such as Australia and Canada will boost Britain's economy, as well as providing mutual military security and living space for the great family of English-speaking people.

We must restore links with Canada and other White Commonwealth lands

A LAND OF HISTORY, ART AND CULTURE

Why we should treasure Britain's heritage

GREAT Britain has produced some of the greatest artists, poets and musical composers in history.

Our cultural heritage stands alongside that of other Western nations such as Germany, Italy and France.

So it is a scandal that since 1945, art in Britain has sunk to the very depths of mediocrity and obscenity.

No great novelists have emerged in the latter twentieth century, while our 'musical' output is a cacophony of discordant 'modernism' mixed with the thumping jungle beat of alien Reggae and Rap. Art and sculpture have followed the same decadent path of ugliness, abstraction and obscenity.

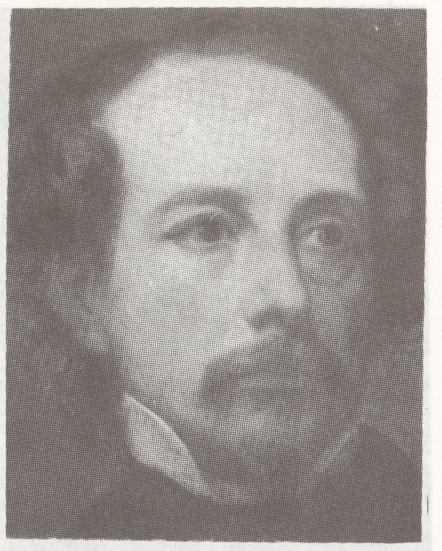

HISTORY

Our children are no longer taught about the beauty of Shakespeare or the thrilling history of our Saxon, Viking and Celtic forebears. Instead, they have alien cultures and religions rammed down their throats at school, and in their leisure time are bombarded with disgusting race-mix propaganda as alien or homosexual pop stars prance about to the beat of so-called 'music'.

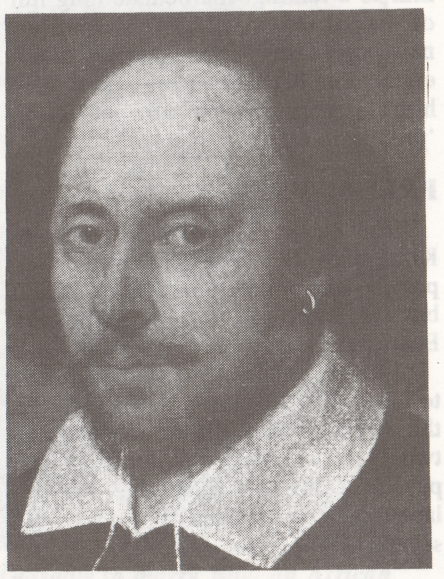

We believe that it is time that the drugged-up hippies and queers who pose as modern-day artists were given the order of the boot, so that people with genuine talent and craftsmanship are able to flourish once again.

BRITISH HISTORY

As part of this process, we need to get rid of left-wing teachers who poison our schoolchildren's minds against everything that is good, decent and British. Let's get rid of the destructive cult of 'political correctness'. We need to teach our kids about the great figures of British and Western history, so that they can rediscover Europe's sublime Latin, Germanic and Celtic cultural heritage.

BRITAIN has produced some of the cultural giants of history: Charles Dickens (Above) and William Shakespeare (Below) belong to our great literary heritage. We have produced great artists such as Turner and musicians such as Elgar and Walton. It's time our children were allowed to feel pride in their culture.

NEW BOOKLET

THE ENEMY WITHIN: The latest booklet published by the British National Party, this consists of the text of a letter of complaint to the Broadcasting Complaints Commission following the Public Eye programme on the party in January. The Commission refused to consider the complaint on the ludicrous grounds that it was lodged 'out of time' (actually less than five months after the programme). The booklet, although it deals only with one specific TV programme, highlights the kind of lying and brainwashing techniques that are typical of television and the mass media generally. The Enemy Within is a good item to give out to people who sympathise with the political objectives of the BNP but believe the media smears they have heard about the party. 30p plus 18p p&p.

NEW LEAFLET

REBUILD BRITAIN NOW! Latest British National Party leaflet, produced to spearhead the coming phase of the party's 1993 recruiting campaign. Deals with the BNP policies on the main issues affecting the British economy: Imports, the EC, Immigration, Mine closures, etc. It is essential that BNP local units start ordering this leaflet in big quantities and begin mass-distribution of the leaflet — NOW! £4.50 per 1,000 plus postage charges of £4.10 for 1,000 and £4.65 for 2,000.

Councillor Beackon already in the news

WITHIN hours of Cllr Derek Beackon's election, Britain's mass media were beating a path to his door.

The intention was clearly to label him as a ranting, inarticulate thug full of hatred of blacks. A number of newspapers and TV companies deliberately sent black reporters to interview him in a predictable attempt to be 'provocative'.

PREDICTABLE

The News of the World sent one Kizzi Nkwocha, who did his best to provoke the required barrage of 'hate', but was instead offered a drink by Cllr Beackon!

Equally predictable was the attempt to label Cllr Beackon a 'criminal'. On the strength of a £100 fine incurred two years ago for obstructing the pavement during a paper sale, he was labelled a 'convicted criminal' by several newspapers.

Every aspect of Derek Beackon's life was given a sinister interpretation. The security grills on the doors and windows of his flat were supposedly part of a bizarre desire for secrecy. In fact, they are a perfectly sensible precaution for someone who has already been assaulted by a communist gang, and who now faces the threat of fire-bombing from every half-baked 'anti-racist' group in the land.

Needless to say, the media never miss the opportunity to slip in the accusations of 'racial attacks' and Asians living 'under siege' in Tower Hamlets.

POPULATION

In fact, it is the whites who live under siege there. The Asian population has grown ten-fold in just ten years, and now stands at 40 per cent in the borough as a whole. In this context, local whites see BNP Cllr Derek Beackon as their only hope.

Security Fund launched

Following the tremendous BNP election victory in Tower Hamlets, there is evidence that the opponents of the party are planning new offensives which are likely to include violent attacks on party property and on the persons of its leading representatives. Indeed, we have confidential police reports confirming this.

Some two weeks before the election, candidate Derek Beackon was attacked by three masked men in the street. Fortunately he was not badly hurt. Then a few days after the election a fire bomb was thrown at the home of BNP leader John Tyndall in Sussex. It was badly aimed and bounced off a wall into the street, with no damage done. However, we are in no doubt that these attacks will be attempted again.

In this new situation the party has decided to give top priority to the installation of a number of new security fittings at premises likely to be targets of such attacks, first and foremost the BNP Bookshop in Welling. Because delay would be unsafe, these fittings are being installed immediately, the money to pay for them coming out of normal party funds. If the party is not to run short of cash, this money must quickly be replaced.

We are therefore launching this month a Security Fund with a target of £4,000. We appeal to all readers to contribute what they can to this fund — and to do so QUICKLY. This appeal is addressed particularly to the more affluent supporters of the party who for business or other occupational reasons are not able to be in the front line of activity. We do not ask these people to put themselves in danger, only to help protect those who are.

Contributions should be marked 'BNP Security Fund' and sent to PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

YOUR LETTERS

Write to: The Editor, British Nationalist, PO Box 117, Welling, Kent DA16 3DW.

Sir: I have just seen the wonderful news on TV of the BNP's victory in Tower Hamlets. What has struck me more than anything is the absolute hysteria in the mass media which followed the election.

Many people, even those who do not support the BNP, have said to me that the 'anti-racists' have got no right to talk about banning the Party. The extreme left have made themselves look ridiculous by their outbursts, and have generated a lot of support for the BNP amongst the general public.

At 80, I may not live to see the BNP form a government. But this result has restored my faith in the British people. After so many years of feeling ashamed of my country I can at last feel proud to be British again.

Well done Derek Beacon and the BNP!

W. WINFIELD
Derbys.

Sir: I read with interest the letter about hair-length amongst today's youth. Although I don't favour the skinhead haircut, I detest seeing young men with long hair, which looks effeminate.

Standards of appearance are very important for an organisation like the BNP, since the people delivering leaflets or selling the party paper are normally the first point of contact that the public has with the party.

One longs with admiration to the days before the war, when organisations similar to ours were manned by smart young men who did not need today's eccentric hairstyles and other pop-music paraphanalia.

A simple short-back-and-sides looks a lot smarter and would give us the best image.

NORTH WEST ACTION WINS BIG T.V. AND PRESS COVERAGE

Over forty activists took part, selling papers and distributing 3,000 leaflets to shoppers and holidaymakers alike — the leaflets could therefore reach all parts of the British Isles! Part of the group is shown (Right) outside Blackpool's historic tower, where sales of the Party newspaper were brisk.

A few weeks later, the Region held a successful Day of Action in Burnley, Lancs, which gained massive publicity in local newspapers and television. The Action was in support of three local election candidates and attracted hundreds of local supporters, reflecting the growing strength of the BNP in the region.

A busy summer for Scottish Region

The months of June, July and August were a busy time for the Scottish Region. Many towns and villages in Central Scotland were leafleted, and three main days of action held.

First stop was Falkirk where a highly successful papersale and leaflet drive was held in the town centre. The sales team received a great response from the public with numerous *BN*s being sold and hundreds of Join Us leaflets distributed. The day ended with leaflet drops in two small villages on the outskirts of Falkirk.

At the beginning of July activists headed for Bonnyrigg, which is in the Midlothian region south of Edinburgh.

The East of Scotland Orange walk was being held there, so we anticipated a good response. We were not disappointed, with BN sales reaching over a 100 and over 2000 leaflets handed out.

Also on the same day a small meeting was held in neighbouring Dalkeith which resulted in a new unit being set up in that town, adding yet another contact address to the list in Scotland.

As a result of several enquiries received at the Orange walk Scotland's next activity took place on the 12th of July at another Orange parade in Armadale, West Lothian.

Again our loyalist friends bought scores of BN and took hundreds of leaflets. As a result of this a group of young men have set up a unit to add to the ever increasing numbers in the West Lothian region.

The Scottish BNP's strategy of concentrating on smaller towns and villages in a summer recruitment drive is starting to pay dividends. It is hoped that the coming months shall see more units emerging in rural areas of Scotland.

The Day of Action at Falkirk (Left) resulted in huge sales of the Party newspaper and distribution of hundreds of leaflets. This was followed, a few weeks later, by an even better event at Bonnyrigg (Below), where the team sold over a hundred papers to Scotland's loyalist community. The East of Scotland Orange Walk is a major nationalist event north of the border, and as well as the successful paper sale, the BNP team handed out over two thousand leaflets

York paper sale makes headlines

ACCORDING to the communist SWP, known to us as ANAL, there is "growing evidence" that members of the BNP are gaining a hold in York.

We are pleased to confirm that the Reds' suspicions are quite correct! A recent paper sale in the historic city was enthusiastically received by the public, much to the annoyance of the unwashed communist dregs who crawled out of the sewers and went bleating to the press. The red trash made up a cock-and-bull story about BNP "violence" against one of their hippies, suitably embellished with nonsense about a "secret BNP gang" travelling up and down the country.

The result? A banner headline in the local rag giving the BNP excellent free publicity. Thanks, ANAL!

British National Party activities

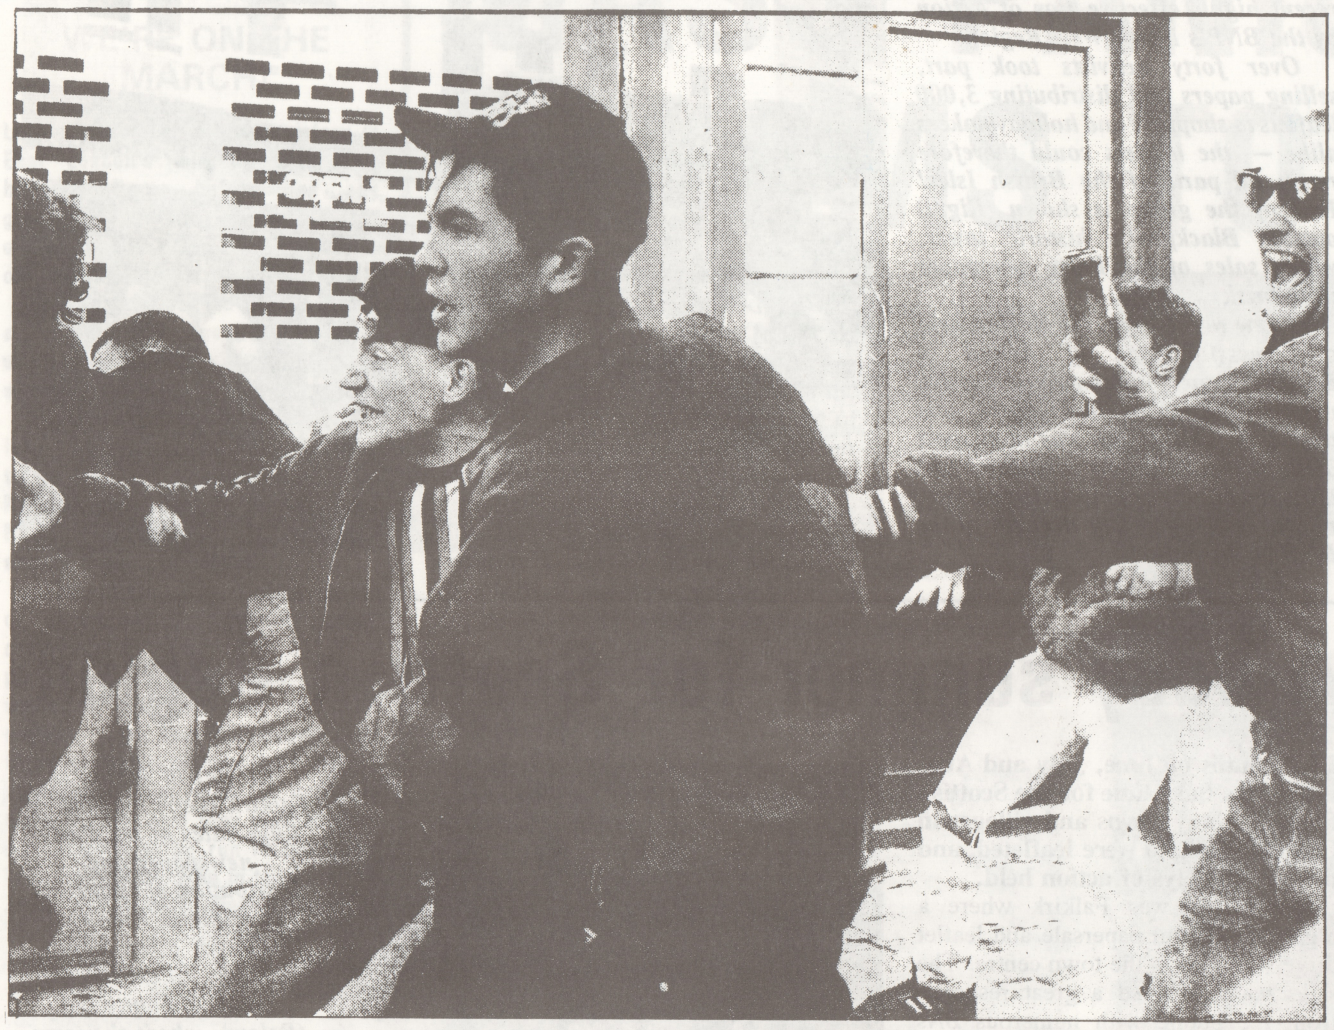

FOOTHOLD IN THE CITY

MEMBERS of an anti Nazi pressure group say they are concerned at growing evidence that members of the British National Party could be gaining a hold in York.

A Day of Action in York resulted in the above article in the local press. Needless to say, the reporter who concocted this fairy story did not trouble himself with finding out the BNP's version of events, but it is nevertheless useful publicity for the Party.

RED TRASH ON RAMPAGE

COMMUNIST 'anti-racists' and their Tory paymasters have shot themselves in the foot yet again, with mob violence against working class whites in Tower Hamlets.

Millions of TV viewers watched in disgust as a mob of immigrants and communists burnt the British flag. If these people want to gain public sympathy, they have a strange way of going about it. The talk in thousands of pubs across the country on Sunday night was overwhelmingly in favour of the BNP for standing up to these mobsters. The elderly Eastender interviewed on TV that night summed up what most people in Britain were thinking: ''These 'anti-nazis' are the real fascists.''

RACIAL ATTACK

The Tory media tried to make out that the BNP were to blame, but the real culprits were the 300 'anti-racists' who launched a vicious racial attack against less than a dozen whites. Despite a smattering of token arrests, there was no doubt that it was all a put up job on the part of the Establishment, who had ample warning that the reds were going to riot.

The Tory Government seems to have the idea that if it incites reds and immigrants to cause enough mayhem, the public will turn against the BNP as 'troublemakers'. In fact, this tactic has proved a total failure. They tried it at Welling recently, when the Tories ordered the police to let the reds smash up the town in order to build up public hostility against the BNP bookshop.

It backfired in spectacular fashion, when the public quite rightly blamed the authorities for inciting the riot.

The whole of the 'anti-racist' industry fell over itself to scream blue murder following the BNP victory.

CRETINS

These cretins are so full of their own importance, so desperate to get onto the airwaves or into print that they don't stop to consider that their actions encourage support for the BNP. Typical of this was the strike called by Tower Hamlets Council's trade union. As far as we are concerned, every protest march, flag-burning, or riot against the BNP is simply keeping the Party and its policies in the public eye.

ANNUAL RALLY November 6th!

This is to inform all readers that the British National Party's Annual Rally for 1993 will be held in the London area on Saturday, November 6th.

Details of how to get to the rally will be given later. In the meantime we urge all those wishing to attend to keep the date free. BNP branches should begin NOW organising their members to get to the event!

OFFICERS, ACTIVISTS AND MEMBERS EDUCATION AND TRAINING SEMINARS CENTRAL LONDON

The seminars mentioned above are part of a programme now being mounted by the British National Party for the purpose of training activists in political education and organisational techniques. It is intended soon to spread the London training programme throughout the country. Interested persons should contact their local unit or the BNP Bookshop for details.

EDMONDS ARRESTED

National Organiser held on remand

BNP NATIONAL Activities Organiser Richard Edmonds (Right), along with three other Party members, has been arrested and charged with public order offences following an incident in which a West Indian man and his white girlfriend were allegedly showered with glass outside a Bethnal Green pub. The four BNP men have been charged with violent disorder.

Duty solicitor Frank Macaskie said the charges would be ''vigorously contested.''

As we go to print, Mr Edmonds was being remanded in custody following an appearance at Thames magistrates' court.
